

What You Need To Know | President Trump Has Quickly Built the World's Most Effective Coronavirus Testing System

President Trump and his Administration quickly built the world's best testing system.

- President Trump has quickly revolutionized an inherited testing system that was not built for this pandemic.
- Thanks to the President's efforts, the United States has now tested more than 5.4 Americans – far more than any other country.
- In hot spots like New York City, the United States has conducted several times more tests per capita than South Korea.

The Trump Administration has revolutionized our testing approach to testing by cutting red tape and bureaucratic obstacles to get new tests to the frontlines as soon as possible.

- The FDA has quickly reviewed and issued dozens of emergency use authorizations for coronavirus tests.
 - Abbott Laboratories designed a test that can detect coronavirus in just five minutes.
- To expedite testing, the FDA allowed certain labs to begin using validated tests while their emergency use authorization request was reviewed.
- The FDA even empowered states to authorize tests manufactured and used within their borders.

President Trump is leveraging the innovation of America's private sector to rapidly increase testing capacity nationwide.

- The President has formed innovative public-private partnerships to expand testing capacity, develop new tests, and get tests to the frontlines as soon as possible.
- The Federal government has worked with Thermo Fisher, LabCorp, Quest, U.S. Cotton, and the American Clinical Laboratory Association to increase testing capacity.
- Companies like CVS, Target, and Walmart have worked with the Trump Administration to facilitate drive-through testing.

###